

Larry Sommers, US 100, 4"x 8", Handcolored photo etching

The 2010 Larry Sommers Art Fellowship

Seattle Print Arts is proud to announce that the recipient of this year's Larry Sommers Art Fellowship is Ben Moreau. We are delighted to be making this announcement on August 17th, which was Larry's birthday. The Fellowship was established in memory of Larry with generous donations from colleagues, family and friends inspired by his passion for art and union activism.

Ben Moreau, "No One Ever Sees What Is Coming," etching, aquatint, 15"x19", 2010

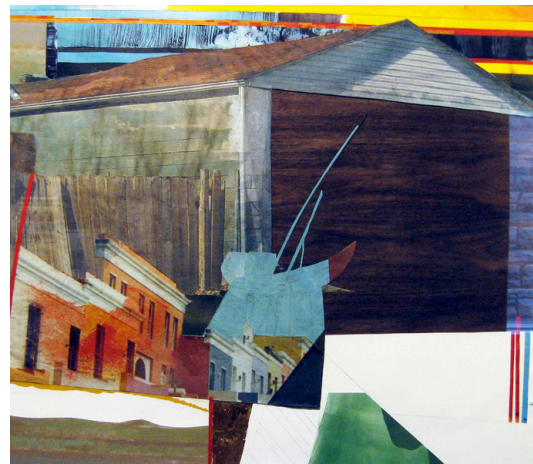

The selection committee received twenty-nine applications. We were impressed by the quality of the work and diversity of media represented in all the submissions, making the decision very challenging.

Ben has proposed to use the Fellowship to develop and expand his current body of self-portraits as etchings, mezzotints and drawings.

In addition Seattle Print Arts is pleased to present Kelda Martensen and Lisa Hasagawa with Fellowship merit awards in recognition of their work and commitment to print arts.

Lisa Hasagawa, "Been better", 2010, Detail from artist's book "What I can't tell you" embroidery on ribbon, vintage spool 1 1/2" x 1" x 1"

Kelda Martensen, "Avalon to Plymouth," 2009 Woodblock, digital print, wood veneer, 33"x37"

A reception will be held to congratulate the artists and publicly announce the award. Larry Sommers Art Fellowship Reception September 2, 2010, 6:00-8:00 PM Tashiro Kaplan Vandenbrink Community Room 115 Prefontaine Place S., Seattle.

Thank you to all the artists who applied; the excellence and range of the submissions reflected the commitment and passion Larry shared for works on paper. Thank you to everyone who has generously donated to the Larry Sommers Art Fellowship.

It is an honor for Seattle Print Arts to sponsor this award in memory of our friend and colleague Larry Sommers. To contribute to this fund, please go to www.seattleprintarts.org and click on the "Donate/Join" tab on the left. You do not need to become a member to make a donation.